

Mr Michael Moynahan
Chairman
Creative New Zealand

Michael Moynahan is Chairman of the Arts Council of New Zealand Toi Aotearoa (Creative New Zealand). He has a long association with literature and a 25-year career in publishing as CEO of Harper Collins (Australia, New Zealand and India), CEO of Random House India, and Managing Director and Chairman of Random House New Zealand. During his career he has focused on strategic development and building business capability. He is recognised as someone able to introduce change and for his capacity to see opportunities outside accepted wisdom. He has placed particular emphasis on developing strategic partnership opportunities. Mr. Moynahan believes in the value of collaboration and understands the need to build strong collegial relationships with all stakeholders.

Mr. Moynahan also has a passion for and highly developed understanding of the role of governance and the value to business of good leadership. Mr. Moynahan is the chair of New Zealand Beachhead Advisors for New Zealand Trade and Enterprise and has been a member of a number of industry and not for profit boards and advisory panels.

Creative New Zealand

Creative New Zealand encourages, promotes and supports the arts in New Zealand for the benefit of all New Zealanders through funding, capability building, an international programme and advocacy.

As an arts development agency, Creative New Zealand offers financial support for New Zealand's emerging and established artists, art practitioners, groups and organisations to develop and present arts projects throughout New Zealand and overseas. Capability building is provided via training and online resources such as workshops, coaching and videos to help artists and practitioners develop professionally, grow audiences and markets and manage their organisations.

High quality New Zealand art and artists are also supported to reach international markets and audiences through presentations, touring, relationship building and collaborative projects including cultural and artistic exchanges. Creative New Zealand also advocates on the value of the arts and contribution the arts sector makes to New Zealand's community well-being, inclusivity and prosperity.
